The Chief Secretary also inquired about the traffic arrangements for the upcoming AmarnathJi yatra and said that a proper plan should be framed to ensure smooth flow of traffic. He said that the coming months should not witness any traffic jams and all preparations have to be made in advance to plug any loopholes.

Dr Mehta enjoined upon the officers that the experience of yatris on pilgrimage and other tourists should be pleasant so that they promote Jammu and Kashmir as a tourism destination back home. He also asked the traffic department to hold a stakeholders consultation and formulate SOPs which all stakeholders comply with without need for coercive measures.

The Chief Secretary also inquired about the progress of Intelligent Traffic Management System (ITMS) in Srinagar and directed the concerned to detect traffic violations through the upgraded system. He said that the traffic department should start generating e-challans against the violators from June 23 at the intersections which are fully automated.

Under the Smart City Project, the authorities have installed closed-circuit television (CCTV) cameras and other devices in Srinagar. The cameras have begun sending live video and photo feeds of traffic violations to a command and control centre.

It was informed that the ITMS cameras have been installed about 60 intersections in Srinagar out of which 25 are fully ready to start generating e-challans.

Dr Mehta also asked the Deputy Commissioners of Anantnag and Ramban districts to examine the routes in their respective districts and see that all critical, protective work have been carried out to ensure smooth movement of vehicles.

Article 370 was temporary but

We have to respect individuality and unique talent hidden within each student. Classrooms should inculcate courage, give students the power of independent thinking and inspire them to become a better person and not just a class topper, the Lt Governor said.

The Lt Governor said, in the future, students will not come to Universities to receive just bookish knowledge or to accumulate more information. Universities will have to prepare human capital which will ensure its relevance in this fast changing world powered by algorithms, he added The Lt Governor appreciated the J&K Higher Education Council and Vice Chancellors of all Universities of J&K and associated stakeholders for their significant contribution in implementing National Education Policy and promoting independent thinking, scientific temper, creativity and nurturing unique personality among the students.

"Under the guidance of Hon'ble PM Shri Narendra Modi Ji, NEP 2020 is promoting an education system that makes students conscious, not mechanical. It makes them carrier of knowledge, wisdom and values and not a storehouse of memories, the Lt Governor said.

"In the coming future, only that education will be relevant which will prepare the student for life-long learning with spiritual and cultural values. Education that will not just impart technical knowledge but promotes individuality, uniqueness of the student. Education that will sharpen student's skill of critical, creative thinking, communication and collaboration and help them to flourish," he observed.

National Education Policy 2020 promotes lifelong learning and enables students to adapt to change in different sectors. We cannot predict skills that would be required in the next 10 years but individuality, independent and Critical Thinking, and Creativity will improve resilience and adaptability, he said.

The Lt Governor also extended his hearty congratulations to all the faculty members and teachers of University of Jammu.

Convocation is also a moment of pride for teachers. Our ancient scripture beautifully describes the relationship between Guru and Disciple. Guru prays that his fame and his disciple fame may increase together. This is an example of the highest values of our Indian culture. In that sense, students are not handed over just medals and degrees, but a legacy of values and a huge responsibility on their shoulders to enrich and preserve it for future generations, the Lt Governor said.

Commending the new initiatives of University of Jammu, the Lt Governor said, "I am confident that in the coming days, Jammu University will give new direction to the education sector of the country" and obstruction of justice. In Shopian case they acted on behalf of Pakistan and terrorist groups to create unrest in the Valley," Sources said.

Prof Umesh Rai, Vice Chancellor, University of Jammu, presented the University report and highlighted special programmes to be rolled out soon. The University is in the process of setting up a fullfledged Directorate of Hindi and a Centre of Excellence in Dogri, he said.

A Brief About Shopian Case & The Conspiracy: Asiya and Neelofar of Bongam, Shopian had gone to their apple orchard across the rivulet Rambiara in the afternoon of 29th May 2009. While returning home in the evening hours, they slipped while crossing the rivulet and unfortunately died by drowning. The dead bodies were found early in the morning next day, a little ahead downstream. The bodies were recovered by the family members. Assisted by local police the bodies were taken by the family members to their home. Since the deceased were young and did not die of known illness, the local police initiated inquest proceedings (under section 174 CrPC). By the time the bodies reached the sub district hospital in Shopian, the terroristseparatist networks had smelled an opportunity to hijack the episode p-02 and use it as a major tool for creating a vicious cycle of arson-rioting-street violence, resulting in a sizable number of civilians getting killed or injured in the process of maintaining law and order, which in turn adding to more anger, more rioting, more force to control it, more deaths and more injuries.

Dr. Nighat, Dr Bilal and other accused hatched a conspiracy to falsify the post-mortem reports of the two victims. Not one but four different postmortems were prepared each full of intra and inter inconsistency and contradictions by the doctors. Things that did not exist in the unfortunate accident were artificially added. Things that existed were deliberately omitted. Moreover, biological samples belonging to unknown persons (not of the deceased) were fraudulently obtained and placed on record. Four police officers including a District SP were arrested during the initial investigation and put in jail. However, the CBI investigation revealed that they were falsely implicated.

Sources said the CBI did a fantastic job but the justice remained elusive because the local CBI counsel was threatened by the terror outfits and their assets not to pursue the case.

"Tens of hundreds of news and op-ed stories came to be published in local, national and international media vilifying the Indian State for encouraging rape murder and mayhem in Kashmir using its security forces and later hushing it up. The effects of these write-ups have been devastating. Hundreds of youngsters expressed their desire to join terrorism to avenge the dishonour of the women. Immediately after the local setup of terror network in Shopian twisted the drowning incident as rape and murder, the next layer of terror entities based in Srinagar took over the reins of the campaign. HCBA led by Mian Qayoom Srinagar filed a PIL. HCBA has always maintained that it doesn't believe in Indian Constitution. PIL filed by Mian Qayoom led group of lawyers calling themselves as HCBA was a part of the mobilization of resources by the Pakistan ISI and terror outfits," Sources said.

CBI INVESTIGATION REVEALS THE TRUTH & LARGER CONSPIRACY: After CBI's painstaking investigation had revealed that Asiya and Neelofer were not raped and died due to drowning and that Doctors were part of the conspiracy to forge the evidence to paint it as a rape and murder, Mian Qayoom's Bar association asked Pakistan to take up the 'Shopain rape issue' with the International Court of Justice (ICJ) at the Hague. He alleged that the Government of India had failed to deliver justice. His General Secretary G.N Shaheen said, Pakistan was under obligation to take up the issue as 'it is a party to the Kashmir dispute.

"It was premeditated on the part of Pakistan proxy Mian Qayoom and his associates and it is also evident from a series of public press conferences and street protests, he and his associates immediately organized rejecting the CBI findings. The point is: he was least interested in truth, rule of law, due process of law if it was not his version,' Sources said.

Sources also said that due to efficient and speedy CBI investigation amidst extremely difficult and hostile conditions which found out the truth backed by compelling evidence that the two women died because of drowning and there was no rape and murder. The CBI investigation also exposed the devious and diabolical role of specific lawyers, doctors and others who subverted and obstructed the justice. The CBI's findings played a crucial role in bringing down the street violence and also in pushing back the false narrative.

However, the terror ecosystem delayed the framing of the charges by the trial court by filing a petition for quashment of charge-sheet in the High Court through two of the accused advocates (advocate Altaf Mohand and advocate Sheikh Mubarakh) and ensuring that the CBI counsel does not appear to defend the CBI.

Sources said perusal of available records have revealed very disturbing facts: prima facie it appears that the CBI's local counsel repeatedly failed to appear and represent the CBI's case in the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir resulting in an adverse order that had grave national security implications. Out of 40 'hearings', he appeared only on 06 hearings, perhaps because he was threatened by the terror ecosystem ruling the roost prior to August 2019.

Sources further said that the absence of the CBI's local counsel went unnoticed and unaddressed for a shocking period of around 8 years and 3 months.

'The local CBI counsel absence facilitated in saving the 13 accused (06 doctors, 05 lawyers and 02 civilians) especially Dr. Nighat from being tried for creating false evidence such as bogus post-mortems, maliciously obtaining biological samples of body fluids (vaginal swabs and spermatozoa) of unknown persons and fraudulently placing it as to be of deceased women, criminally intimidating persons to give false evidence and all of these to falsely implicate security force/police personnel for rape and murder which never happened," Sources said.

It has been further revealed that departmental probe against the doctors for hatching the biggest crime was also sabotaged by the elements in power at that time.

SIU Attaches House

Ganai son of Mohammad Shaban Ganai father of terrorist associate Zubair Ahmad Ganai resident of Subhanpora Bijbehara has been found used by terrorists of proscribed terrorist outfit LeT.

"In October last year, a friend of mine informed me about the 'Mumkin' livelihood scheme for unemployed youth and asked me to contact Mission Youth officials, Wani asserted. It was like a dream come true when I was informed about the benefits of the scheme, he said". An elated Wani said that he is satisfied being the happy owner of Tata Yodha and is earning enough to feed his family and educate his daughters.

In the present financial year, 4482 youth have been facilitated for self-employment under the scheme with a total financial support of 165 crore through scheme banking partner and 16 crore as government contribution towards subsidy. Selfemployment avenues created under this scheme have instilled a sense of self-reliance and positivity among youth.

Similarly, Tejaswani scheme is a specially tailored self-employment programme for empowerment of young women of Jammu & Kashmir aimed to promote entrepreneurship among them.

This scheme helped them in attaining economic independence and improved their social status. All women entrepreneurs covered under the program have been given Entrepreneurship Development Program trainings through Jammu and Kashmir Entrepreneurship Development Institute (JKEDI), for attaining proper market skills and technology knowhow for making their business viable.

Afshana of Ganderbal always dreamt of securing a respectable livelihood that could fulfill her personal and family's financial needs. She, before opting for Tajeswani, used to give home tuition to small children in her neighbourhood. However, that was not sufficient to bear her personal expenses."Sometimes I would feel very distraught. This financial year, assistance to more than 1588 women entrepreneurs has been provided under the scheme with a resultant employment generation of 3615. Total financial assistance to the tune of 102 crore has been sanctioned along with an amount of 12 crore as government contribution towards subsidy.Likewise, the Mission Youth started Youth Volunteer Program for youth engagement at grassroots level and rolled out a special volunteer program in the name of YOUTH CLUBS. The initiative was approved by the Governing Body of Mission Youth, headed by Lieutenant Governor. The volunteer program was made fully operational on the eve of International Youth Day 2021 and 4500 youth clubs have been constituted under the program across the UT. More than one lakh youth have been involved in volunteer activities through the program who got opportunity to work through real challenges and make meaningful change in the society. Youth have been enabled to learn new social skills like collaboration and problem solving that are vital to succeed in academics, workplace, and their personal lives

An amount of 7.25 crore has been provided as grant in aid for specified activities of the youth clubs in present financial year.

'We always felt alienated from the system but after joining Youth Volunteer Program of Mission Youth, we are feeling part of policy making and governance", said Aqib from Pulwama.

The youth volunteer members of Pulwama organized a month long drug de-addiction campaign in every Panchayat of the district recently. "We will make Pulwama a drug free district within next few months", said an enthusiastic Youth volunteer.

Mission Youth has been a game changer for the youth of Jammu and Kashmir. The initiative has provided the youth with the necessary resources and support to enhance their skills and promote entrepreneurship, thereby contributing to the socio-economic development of the region. The success of Mission Youth serves as an inspiration for other states to implement similar initiatives for the development of their youth.

Mission Youth' has succeeded in turning J-K youth into ambassadors of innovation, peace and development through systematic interventions for youth engagement and outreach under six domains including livelihood generation, education/ skill development, financial assistance, counseling/theory, sports and recreation.

Remarkably, tremendous work performed by the Mission Youth during past few years bore fruit when the Mission Youth was awarded with Prime Minister's award for the Excellence in Public Administration 2022, under the Innovation (State) category on 16th Civil Services Day this year.

oaching centres over the last five years have come up in every nook and corner of the valley. The private education industry has become very big and has glamourised it like anything. Present day a student not enrolled in any lucrative coaching centre is considered as an old-fashioned entity. The advancement in this field of education has brought with it both good and the ugly, and the noble cause which was the basic ingredient has taken a back seat and money-minting and largescale commercialization has taken over giving it a bad name. The socalled coaching centres are looting money from students in the name of providing better education facilities. Students across the valley are tempted to study in these institutes and insist their parents for admission at any cost. Education is hope for millions to make a quality change for generations to come. Living with ignorance is living life nothing more than that of an animal. There is one more craze nowadays, i.e., these institutions want merit students in their classes so that they can attract others. They also announce some awards and rewards for those who make good progress. Some City based e-institutions have the habit of advertising the students' photos in leading newspapers stating that so and so as scores cent per cent in the particular exams. Children believe that if they study in these institutes they will achieve their goals. In fact, teachers nowadays are being used by coaching institutes as well as schools as the marketing persons to bring in new admission and that is spoiling the very name of the noble profession. Children are themselves responsible for giving credibility to these coaching centres. It has become a medium of earning money. They don't care whether a student scores good marks or not. All they want is to give a blow to education.

ENHANCING THE SUCCESS OF IVF WITH ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

ith recent technological advancements made in the field of fertility treatment, the procedures of Artificial Reproductive Techniques (ART) have made humungous improvements in terms of success rates and safety. Intracytoplasmic Sperm Injection (ICSI) is a form of the micro-assisted fertilization process. one of the common IVF procedures performed clinically for over 20 years.

While the IVF procedure involves mixing thousands of motile sperms with each egg in a dish known as the insemination of eggs, expecting that the sperms and eggs would interact through biochemistry. But in cases where either egg or sperm factors are deficient, then very few eggs become fertilized after incubation. However, ICSI has proven to be of immense advantages in cases of Oligozoospermia (low sperm count), Teratozoospermia (abnormal morphology of sperms), and Sperm Transport Disorder, where sperms are produced in adequate numbers, but with depleted motility, quality and concentration.

Revolution in ICSI Technique

ICSI has revolutionized in the treatment of male infertility and when combined with the IVF procedure, the sperm requirement for egg fertilization has dropped from a hundred to only one viable sperm. This has led to the recent development of aggressive new techniques to provide viable sperm for egg fertilization from men with low or no sperm count. Making use of Artificial intelligence, nanotechnology, Laser comes through a selection of the best sperms and best embryos.

Artificial Intelligence - As of now the Artificial Intelligence-based technology, which is still under clinical trial has very high predictive success in identifying the best embryo, in terms of its growth pattern. In this technique, the AI system reviews a massive amount of data (over hundreds of images of each embryo) and analyses the greatest likelihood of each embryo developing into a fetal heart. The embryo with the highest as laser-assisted hatching is performed score, and therefore the highest potenprocedures has revolutionized the out- ter volume, and insertion of sperm into an oocyte with a high degree of reproducibility. Requiring minimal human involvement, various such trials have been successfully conducted with a high success rate of above 90% and a survival rate of 90.7%

Laser-Assisted Hatching - In some cases, the possibilities also arise that the embryo implantation to the uterus is not successful, pertaining to sporadic reasons. In such cases, once the best embryo is chosen, a procedure known on the selected embryo before implantaof ICSI (Intra Cytoplasmic Sperm Injec tion), Blastocyst culture, Laser Assisted Hatching, and TESE (testicular sperm extraction) to name a few.

While it is imperative to say that the IVF procedure requires special care and attention during the process and once after conception, pregnancy is just as precautious as normal conception. With the availability of experienced experts, doctors, nurses, and other medical staff, there is no need to panic for those conceived through IVF, motherhood is the most precious gift for such women. Having provided the best-in-class tial for leading to a viable fetus, can then be selected for transfer.

Robotic Technology and Nanobots With the inception of automation in ICSI through robotic and nanotechnology, has provided a viable novel technique to analyze oocyte penetration in real time via selection of the best sperm or embryo. In nanotechnology, a nanobot is released for selecting and transporting the best sperm cell until it penetrates into the egg, before implanting the healthy embryo in the uterus. Whereas in robot-assisted ICSI, the system performs visual tracking of the uterus. The embryos are cultured in the single sperm, robotic immobilization of laboratory for 3-5 days. The treatment is tion. Since in some situations, the outer layer of the embryo may thicken abnormally, laser-assisted hatching scientifically allows to make a small opening on the outer layer making it easier for the embryo to implant better to the endometrium.

In-Vitro Fertilisation (IVF) is an Artificial Reproductive Technique (ART) comprising of controlled ovarian hyperstimulation followed by retrieval of eggs from the ovaries, fertilization with sperms in the laboratory, and subsequent transfer of the so-formed embryos inside the Assisted Hatching, and robotic ICSI sperm, aspiration of sperm with picolinow highly refined with the application technology for years, it is the vision and endeavor of 'The IVF Centre at Yatharth Hospital Greater Noida, to provide Affordable, Reliable, and Transparent treatment to couples battling fertility issues. It is advantageous for the patients to now utilize the wellequipped, modern sophisticated technology taken care of by the experts. Women in different age groups have different health concerns, which will also be appropriately addressed here.

WHEN FARMERS CHOOSE TO GROW FOOD, NOT TOBACCO

SHOBHA SHUKLA

We need food, not tobacco," was the theme of the World No Tobacco Day 2023. The UN health agency, the World Health Organization (WHO) rightly points out that tobacco contributes to increased food insecurity. Apart from being a deadly health hazard that is responsible for over 8 million deaths every year globally, tobacco production also adversely impacts economic stability, food security, gender equality, and our environment.

Grow food, not tobacco, a new report by WHO recalls that globally 349 million people are facing acute food insecurity, many of them in countries where tobacco cultivation has increased by 15% in the last decade. Tragically, 9 out of the 10 largest tobacco producers are low- and middleincome countries, and 4 of these are also low-income food-deficit countries It is deplorable that 3.5 million hectares of fertile land across 124 countries are converted for tobacco growing each year even in places where people are starving. Tobacco cultivation also contributes to deforestation of 200,000 hectares a year, that is cleared annually for tobacco growing and curing. Growing tobacco requires heavy use of pesticides and fertilizers, leading to soil degradation. As soil fertility is depleted, land used for growing tobacco becomes infertile for growing food crops.

The tobacco industry often touts itself as an 'advocate' for the 'livelihood' of tobacco farmers while it hides the fact that tobacco consumption results in a loss of over USD 1.4 trillion to global economy and devastates lives, and our planet. Some farmers and government officials also see tobacco as a cash crop that can generate economic growth. But this is far from the truth. Contrary to tobacco industry claims, research from across the globe shows that tobacco cultivation is neither safe - it can result in green tobacco sickness - nor lucrative. It does not provide a prosperous livelihood for most smallholder farmers and most of them struggle economically. They either incur losses, or generate small profits that are insufficient to support a household.

A WHO report on tobacco and the envifive producers of tobacco in the world. India is the second largest producer of tobacco in the world (and the largest tobacco producer in the WHO Southeast Asia region, followed by Indonesia)

Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, Regional Director for WHO Southeast Asia region had said that tobacco farmers and tobacco growers and workers are often used by the tobacco industry as front groups to rally against tobacco control. "It is time that the governments and policymakers across the region hold the tobacco industry accountable for the health, environmental and economic costs of tobacco cultivation and use, including the deepening food crisis," she said.

Even though the pace is slow, tobacco growing countries in the southeast Asian region are taking initiatives towards providing alternative livelihoods to tobacco growers and workers. There are success stories from Bangladesh, India, Indonesia, and Sri Lanka, where tobacco-growing farmers have successfully shifted over to economically viable alternative crops.

During the 7th APCAT Summit of spoke with some Indonesian farmers, who had switched from growing tobacco to other crops. This Summit was organised by Asia Pacific Cities Alliance for Health and Development (APCAT).

One of them, Istanto, a farmer from Indonesia's Magelang Regency, had transitioned to growing sweet potatoes. On being asked why the switch from 'bitter' and deadly tobacco to 'sweet' and life-nourishing sweet potato, this is what he had to say: "I started this in 2012. That year the weather was not good for tobacco cultivation so I thought of growing sweet potatoes. And now there are 8 villages that have joined me and switched over to growing sweet potatoes and other crops like corn, pepper, and vegetables. Tobacco is harvested only once a year, but sweet potatoes grow all the year round and can be dug out every day.

"From my personal experience, operational costs for both crops are the same, but profits are much higher from other crops as compared to tobacco. The operational cost per 10 hectare (1000 square metres) is around Indonesian Rupiah (IDR) 2 million for both. But it is at least three times land is IDR 2.5 million (USD 168), from the 6-7 million (USD 470) by growing sweet potatoes, even when the weather is not very

The region from where Istanto comes (Magelang Regency) has reduced the area of tobacco plantation from 7,573 hectares in 2012 to 5,265 hectares in 2022.

Another young farmer, who I spoke with, had gone one step ahead. He has not only switched to growing sweet potatoes but also processes them to make snacks from them and sell them.

"Sweet potatoes that are smaller in size, do not fetch a good price. So I make sweet savouries from them and supply them to traders in Jakarta, Yogyakarta, Semarang, Kalimantan and even to Trans Mart in Central Java. I have employed 30 youth to manage this work and so I am generating employment as well. Moreover. unlike tobacco, which requires heavy use of pesticides and fertilisers and contributes to soil degradation, sweet potatoes do not need chemical fertilisers at all. I have also quit smoking, once I switched to growing sweet potatoes," he said proudly.

Yet another farmer I met had switched to growing coffee. He said that, "Tobacco crops are very much weather dependent. If it rains during harvest time, we get poor Mayors in Bali (held in December 2022), I quality tobacco and so its price automatically goes down and the farmers experience heavy losses. So, since 1999 I, along with 14 other farmers, started transitioning to growing coffee. In 2002 we started intercropping it with other plants. We had to fight 20 lawsuits filed by the tobacco industry against us. Today there are 800 households in my village who have shifted to growing other crops, including vegetables. Now with the presence of other horticultural crops, and with coffee prices getting better, our profits have increased. We started with coffee but have now shifted to growing getables too. "If the weather is good for tobacco then profits are almost the same for both tobacco and coffee. But if not, then growing coffee is more profitable. My message is that there are other crops to grow and not just tobacco. We cannot just depend upon tobacco. We are gradually shifting from growing tobacco, We must diversify and try growing other crops which are equally profitable if not more," he said.

Istanto is the founder of the Indonesian Multicultural Farmers Forum, that has been playing a pivotal role in encouragmore profitable to grow sweet potatoes as ing farmers to switch to alternate crops. Incompared to tobacco. While the profit from recognition of these efforts, the WHO pre-ers Forum with a WHO Director General's World No Tobacco Day Award 2023.

As tobacco cultivation is water intensive, farmers from water scarce regions in ronmental damage. Moreover 1.3 million good. The profit is even more, when the Bangladesh are replacing tobacco farming child labourers are estimated to be working weather is optimum. When I was young I with tea, sunflower, maize and mustard, on tobacco farms, instead of going to school.
India and Indonesia are among the top

India and Indonesia are among the top of one such farmer who turned his fortune by starting a small tea garden of 0.6 hectares. He made a profit of BDT 300,000 (USD 2770) from his tea garden in 2021, which is more than twice the profit he used to make from growing tobacco. Other tobacco farmers are shifting to growing sunflower and mustard that are less labour intensive and at the same time, yield better profits. As a result, area of tobacco cultivation fell from 950 hectares in 2020 to 650 hectares in 2021, while the area of mustard rose from 75 hectares to 250 hectares in the country.

In India too farmers are shifting to other crops. As per a news report, tobacco acreage and production in the country have started declining as the government is encouraging farmers to shift to alternative crops like food grains, cereals, pulses, oilseeds, vegetables, sugarcane, oil palm, chilli, groundnut, and French beans, as well as to dairy and poultry activities.

Dr Tara Singh Bam, Asia Pacific Regional Director at the International Union Against Tuberculosis and Lung Disease (The Union) rightly remarked: "There is an urgent need to take legal measures to reduce tobacco growing and help farmers to move into the production of alternative food crops.

Governments and policy-makers must step up legislation, develop suitable policies and strategies, and enable market conditions for tobacco farmers to shift to growing food crops. They should stop subsidizing tobacco crops and instead help farmers grow food.

The 8th Asia Pacific Summit of Mayors (APCAT 2023) will be held in Cox's Bazar, Bangladesh. It is likely that sub-national government leaders from several cities of countries in Asia Pacific will advance their commitment to progress towards ending tobacco and preventing non-communicable diseases (NCDs), as well as ending TB and viral hepatitis. Do we want at least two square meals a day for everyone on planet Earth or do we want to gasp with smoke-filled lungs? The choice is ours to make and to make it now. Else we are doomed.

Unmasking the Mirage

Unemployment and its Impact on Marriage

PEER MOHAMMAD AMIR OURESHI

arriage, the opulent spiritual act of commitment, unfolds in Islam as a celestial contract adorned with profound responsibilities. Rooted in divine belief, it heralds a spiritual union, sealed under Allah's watchful gaze. Far from a mere dalliance, it breathes life into humanity's survival, bestowing purpose and nurturing the very fabric of existence. One of the profound Hadiths that sheds light on the significance of marriage states. "When a man marries, he has fulfilled half of his religion, so let him fear Allah regarding the remaining half." This profound saying underscores that marriage is not merely a worldly affair, but a deeply spiritual act that brings one closer to Allah and completes one's religious obligations. The sacred goal of becoming husband and wife surpasses the carnal realm, beckoning partners to harmonize as stalwart allies, offering unwavering support, boundless respect, and collective effort, weaving a symphony of shared endeavors

The Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, illuminated the path of marriage with his divine guidance. He once said. "The most complete of believers in faith are those with the best character, and the best of you are the best to their wives." This timeless Hadith encapsulates the essence of marital harmony, emphasizing the paramount importance of virtuous behavior and kindness towards one's spouse. In the Islamic ethos, husband, and wife are akin to celestial garments, interwoven with delicate grace. Such is the momentous weight that marriage bears on life's grand tapestry that accurate counsel becomes a priceless gem for those who seek its luminous wisdom. For the divine tenets prescribe chastity, humility, honesty, compassion, kindness, loyalty, and philanthropy as foundational virtues, unveiling a path that transcends mere ritualistic fulfillment. The Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, further imparted wisdom concerning timely action in the realm of marriage. He advised, "Do not delay in three things: offering the obligatory prayer when its time comes, performing the funeral prayer when the deceased's body is ready, and marrying a woman when a suitable match is found.

This Hadith highlights the importance of seizing opportune moments in forging marital bonds, ensuring that the blessings of companionship, love, and familial stability are not needlessly postponed. Alas, society's distorted valuation of individuals based solely on their vocations, status, and financial prowess births a cascade of afflictions: belated nuptials, fractured unions, superficial love alliances, and even the tragic epidemic of suicides. The insightful study titled "Youth in India 2022," orchestrated by the erudite Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation, has unveiled a compelling revelation: Jammu and Kashmir has transgressed the customary bounds of matrimonial unions. Astonishingly, a staggering 29.1% of its vibrant youth remain unmarried and Possess the loftiest proportion of unwedded youth in comparison to the other states of this magnificent nation, India. Regrettably, contemporary times have witnessed an unsettling predilection for government employees, while skilled artisans, laborers, and small traders find their worth forsaken. A haunting ritual of discrimination emerges, weighing the we stumble through life's intricate choices, unaware of Allah's commands and the teachings bestowed by the Holy Prophet. Let us not forget that unemployment, a transient state, neither besmirches nor defines an individual's worth.

Instead, it is our collective responsibility to ensure justice prevails, upholding the rights of the jobless. We beseech Allah to illuminate our path, resurrecting the teachings we have forsaken in our pursuit of worldly gains. The pervasive phenom-

Islam completely forbids any extravagance in all spheres of life including marriages one should always remember the saving of Prophet Mohammad (SAW) regarded simple marriages as the best marriages "The best marriage is that upon which the least trouble and expense are bestowed' (Mishkat).

Let us embrace this celestial covenant, glistening with the brilliance of profound virtues, as we traverse the pathways of marital bliss, tethered by love, spirituality, and a shared vision. In this sacred communion, we shall find solace, harmony, and the resplendence that surpasses the transitory, emerging triumphant in the eternal embrace of Allah's grace.

"I am a fan...," Elon Musk after meeting PM Modi; planning to visit India next year

UNITED STATES: Tesla CEO and Twitter owner Elon Musk on Tuesday met Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who is on a four-day State visit to the US and said that he is a fan of him and was honoured to meet him. Speaking on PM Modi's leadership role in making technology inclusive so that digital infrastructure can be created, he said, "I can say he really wants to do the right thing for India. He wants to be open, he wants to be supportive of new companies, obviously, but at the same time, make sure it accrues to India's advantage, which is obviously that's the job I'm saying. I am a fan of Modi," to ANI

In response to PM Modi's tweet regarding his meeting with business leaders in the US, Musk tweeted, "It was an honor to meet again." "In the USA, I will also get the opportunity to meet business leaders, interact with the Indian community and meet thought leaders from different walks of life. We seek to deepen India-USA ties in key sectors like trade, commerce, innovation, technology and other such areas," tweeted PM Modi.

He also divulged plans to visit India anytime soon. On being questioned over whether PM Modi extended an invitation to him, he said, "He did. And yes, I'm tentatively planning to visit India again next year. I'm looking forward to it." Notably, this is the first meeting between PM Modi and Musk after he became the owner of Twitter. PM Modi earlier met Musk in 2015 during a visit to Tesla Motors factory in California. "Well. I'm actually incredibly excited about the future of India. I think India has more promise than any large country in the world,' told Musk to ANI. Speaking about the takeaways from the meeting, Musk said that PM Modi really cares about India because he is pushing them to make significant investments in India, which is something that they intend to do and are just trying to figure out the right timing.

Earlier, during an interview with The Wall Street Journal. Musk was asked if the automaker was interested in the Indian market. "Absolutely." he replied. He added that Tesla will likely finalise a location to set up its India factory by the end of this year.

"It was a fantastic meeting with the Prime Minister and I like him quite a lot. He visited our Tesla Fremont Factory several years ago, and so we've now known each other for a while, said Musk after meeting PM Modi today. Speaking about future plans and investment in India, he said, "Yeah, well, I think there's a tremendous amount of potential for all three pillars of the sustainable energy future. The three pillars are sustainable energy generation through solar and wind, primarily.

And obviously, India is great land area you actually need to generate enough electricity to power India is very small. I believe it'd be probably one or 2 per cent of the land area of India. So it's very doable. And then you need to pair that with stationary battery packs because the sun doesn't shine at night. And then you need electric vehicles, and then you have a sustainable energy future. And I think the interesting thing people will find is that this is a lower cost way to go

Musk also said that he is looking forward to bringing Starlink to India as well. "The Starlink Internet, which I think can be incredibly helpful for sort of remote or rural villages where they perhaps either may have no access to the Internet or the Internet is very expensive and slow. he said.

Notably, his meeting comes days after former Twitter CEO Jack Dorsey alleged that the BJP-led central government threatened to shut down Twitter in India and have its employees raided at the height of the farmers' protest in 2020. PM Modi will be meeting over two dozen thought leaders from various fields after he lands in New York today.

These leaders comprise Nobel laureates, economists, artists, scientists, scholars, entrepreneurs, academics and experts from the health sector. (MILAP NEWS NET-

"India is working hard to fight terrorism": Member of Sikh community

NEW YORK: Darshan Singh Dhaliwal, a member of the Sikh community, on Tuesday, said that India is working hard to fight against terrorism.

"India is really working hard to fight terrorism. And we can see it back home and every place else. There are very few people who are kind to us," Dhaliwal said as he was heading to the 9/11 Memorial.

On September 11, 2001, terrorists al Qaeda hijacked four aeroplanes and carried out suicide attacks in the United States in which 2,977 people lost their lives.

Two of the planes were flown into the twin towers of the World Trade Center in New York City, a third plane hit the Pentagon in Arlington, Virginia, just outside Washington. D.C., and the fourth plane crashed in a field in Shanksville, Pennsylvania.

Notably, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has arrived in New York today on his first official State visit to

Meanwhile, another Indian origin residing in the US, Vipin Dutta said, "I am from Jammu and Kashmir and have seen terrorism first hand. I've been living in the US for the last 25 years and we have seen what has happened to the Kashmiris and Hindus in Jammu and Kashmir. And terrorism and terrorists are always a bad thing all over the world."

"The US has seen it during 9/11. So we are trying to show our sport and solidarity with the world's biggest two democracies. We are basically coming together. If you look at the bigger picture, they are coming together to fight against racism all over the world. And India as well as America, as everybody knows, is spearheading it," he added. Earlier on Tuesday, PM Modi received a grand reception upon his arrival at John F. Kennedy Airport in New York. PM Modi was received by India's Ambassador to the US, Taranjit Singh Sandhu and India's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, Ruchira Kamboj.

Risha Vijayappa, representing the interface community about Hindus, Sikhs and Jainism said that she is in support of 9/11 victims.

Another Indian origin said that India, Israel and the US now "recognize that the terrorism which was being perpetuated by the Pakistani terrorists at the border now they call that out before they were not ready to believe. So there's been a fundamental shift and Modiji has categorized

He also pointed out PM Modi's statement "this is not an era of war" and said which world leader has the courage to tell this to Russia's President Vladimir Putin. He also stated that with this statement, PM Modi sent a clear message, "There is just no room in the world for any acts of terrorism.

PM Modi is also going to address the joint sitting of the Congress, the first Indian PM to address the Congress twice. In 2016, PM Modi spoke about how India and the US have overcome the hesitations of the past during his Congress address.

Ricky Kej, a renowned musician, described it as a remarkable fusion of two nations-one being the largest democracy on Earth and the other known as the oldest democracy.

Meanwhile, three-time Grammy award-winning musician Ricky Kej said, "I am in New York for Prime Minister Modi's visit. It is a beautiful amalgamation of two countries, one is the largest democracy on this earth and the other is said to be the oldest democracy on earth. We're going to the 9/11 Memorial because it's a heart-wrenching site and a constant reminder that terrorism in any form is absolutely not acceptable. We are here in full solidarity with the families of the victims to show that what happened to them was abso lutely wrong and should not happen again." (MILAP

Amritsar: The Indian City Where No One Goes Hungry

GMK NEWS NETWORK

Amritsar is a city in northwestern India best known for the Golden Temple, one of the most revered religious sites in the country. But the temple is more than just a place of worship; it is also a symbol of the city's efforts to combat hunger. The temple's Langar, or communal kitchen, serves free meals to anyone who visits, regardless of religion, caste, or social status. In a country where millions go hungry daily, the Langar program is a beacon of hope and an example of how faith-based initiatives can bring about positive societal change. The Sikh community founded the Golden Temple and the Langar Kitchen almost simultaneously. The philosophy behind the creation of the Langar was to provide free, nutritious food to anyone who visited the Golden Temple, regardless of their caste, religion, or social status. The Langar embodies the Sikh belief in 'seva," which means selfless service to the community. The Langar also manifests Sikhism's core tenet of equality, which opposes social and economic disparities. The Langar is a well-organized kitchen that operates 24/7 and serves free food to an average of 100,000 people daily. The kitchen runs on donations from Sikh communities worldwide, and every contribution is humbly accepted. The cooking, serving, and cleaning system is harmonized, and volunteers from all backgrounds participate throughout the day. No one is paid for their work, and no one is ever turned away from the Langar. On festivals and holidays, the number of people served can exceed 500.000. The Langar's menu consists of simple vet nutritious vegetarian food. The menu consists primarily of rice, lentils, vegetables, and flatbread, with a dessert or snack. Everything is prepared using traditional methods, and fresh ingredients are used to maintain quality and nutrition.

Langar's impact goes far beyond just feeding people. It fosters a sense of community, unity, and equality. People of all religions, castes, and social standings sit and eat together, sharing the same food and space. The Langar's inclusive atmosphere even extends to the kitchen, where the humble tasks of peeling garlic or washing dishes are done together without any sense of hierarchy. The Langar is a place where fundamental human values such as kindness, compassion, and generosity are celebrated. and those who partake in its offerings feel physically and spiritually nourished. The Golden Temple's langar program is not only an example of Indian hospitality but also a demonstration of how religious institutions can contribute to creating a more equitable society. The program's success is partly due to the temple's organizational structure, which operates on a fully decentralized system. The temple is managed by body of Sikhs known as the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC). which oversees the temple's operations and finances. The SGPC is accountable to the Sikh community and works to ensure that the langar program is run efficiently, sustainably, and with the highest standards of hygiene and cleanliness. The Langar has had an impact far beyond Amritsar. It has inspired similar initiatives in different parts of the world, such as the Langar Seva Society in Vancouver, Canada, and the Dalit Welfare Organization in Chennai, India. Langar has shown that hunger is not a problem that needs to be tackled only by governments and NGOs but can be addressed as a community. Langar has also demonstrated that a simple act of kindness can profoundly impact society.

Amritsar's Langar is an extraordinary example of how religion can inspire social and humanitarian initiatives. It shows that we can find ways to uplift our communities and promote equality even in the face of economic and social disparities. The success of Langar's model is that it can be done without financial investment or specialized technical expertise. It is simply an expression of the love and compassion that lies at the heart of Sikhism, Amritsar's Langar stands out as a testament to the infinite power of kindness and generosity in a world where millions suffer from hunger and poverty.

India slams China for blocking proposal in UN to label Sajid Mir as 'global terrorist'

GMK NEWS NETWORK

NEW YORK: India has lashed out at China for blocking proposals at the United Nations to designate Pakistan-based Lashkar-e-Tayyiba's Sajid Mir as a "global terrorist."

"...If we cannot get established terrorists who have been proscribed across global landscapes listed under security council architecture for pure geopolitical interest, then we do not really have the genuine political will needed to sincerely fight this challenge of terrorism...," Prakash Gupta, Joint Secretary, at the Ministry of External Affairs, said at the United Nations counterterror meeting on Tuesday.

In a stern response to China's move at a high-level summit, India without naming its neighbouring country said it "had strong reasons to believe that something was genuinely wrong in the global sanctions regime as manifested in the Security Council.'

Detailing a history of terror attacks in India, Gupta said, "India has faced the brunt of terrorism largely flowing from across our borders for well over three decades. Whether it is the Mumbai terror attack of 2008 the 2016 Pathankot Air Base attack, or the 2019 Pulwama terror attacks, we have lost several thousands of innocent civilians as well as the bravest of our armed forces in this battle against terrorism.'

"But regretfully, justice still continues to elude the victims of the Mumbai terror attacks." he added. The MEA Joint Secretary then played an audio in which Mir is heard instructing the attack on Chabad House, one of the terror targets in the Mumbai attack. "Even as the terror attacks were unfolding, Sajid Mir, a very dreaded terrorist who directed the terrorists from across the border in real time to hunt down foreigners in the Tai Hotel and kill them indiscriminately. He was listed as a proscribed terrorist under the national laws of India. He was prescribed, under the laws of the United States. this host country and of several other countries globally, many of whose nationals lost their lives."

Gupta added. He then in a veiled attack on China said, "When the proposal for labelling him as a global terrorist did not go through the Security Council sanctions regime, we had strong reasons to believe that something was genuinely wrong in the global sanctions regime as manifested in the Security Council.'

'We really do not have the genuine political will needed to sincerely fight this challenge of terrorism." India said.

Even 15 years after the Mumbai terrorist attacks, its masterminds have not yet been brought to justice

So the first and most critical gap we feel addressing is avoiding double standards and this selfdefeating justification of good terrorists versus bad terrorists.

The MEA joint secretary also reiterated PM Modi and said, "We consider that even a single attack is one too many, and even a single life lost is one too many." On Tuesday, Beijing blocked the proposal that had been moved by the US and co-designated by India to blacklist Mir under the 1267 Al Qaeda Sanctions Committee of the UN Security Council as a global terrorist and subject him to assets freeze. travel ban and arms embargo.

China's blocking of the proposal by the US and India comes as prime minister Narendra Modi is in the US for his first State visit. Sajid Mir, one of India's most wanted terrorists, is wanted for his involvement in the 2008 terrorist attacks in Mumbai, India Mir served as the chief planner of the attacks, directing preparations and reconnaissance, and was one of the Pakistan-based controllers during the attacks. "Beginning on November 26. 2008, and continuing through November 29, 2008, ten attackers trained by the Pakistan-based foreign terrorist organization Lashkar-e-Tayyiba (LeT) carried out a series of coordinated attacks against multiple targets in Mumbai, including hotels, cafes, and a train station, killing approximately 170 people. Six Americans were killed during the three-day attacks," the FBI website reads. Earlier in 2022, India at the UN counter-terror meet in Mumbai revealed in detail Pakistan's role in the 26/11 Mumbai terror attack by playing Pakistan-based terrorist Saiid Mir's audiotape. In the audio clip, he is heard directing the attack on Chabad House during Mumbai 26/11 terror attacks.

Meanwhile, China, in recent months, has blocked several bids to designate several terrorists based in Pakistan. In October last year, Beijing put on hold a proposal to list Talha Saeed, son of Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) chief Hafiz Saeed. This bid was moved by India and co-supported by the US, under the 1267 sanction regime.

It was the fifth time that China has blocked an India-US proposal in recent months. Lashkar-e-Taiba member Shahid Mahmood in October, Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) terrorist Saiid Mir in September. LeT and Jamaat-ud-Dawa (JuD) leader Abdul Rehman Makki in June, as well as Abdul Rauf Azhar in August, the brother of Jaish-e Mohammed (JEM) chief Masood Azhar, were protected by Beijing. 57 blasphemy cases registered in Pakistan from January to May 2023: Report

ISLAMABAD: At least 57 cases of alleged blasphemy have been registered in Pakistan from January to May 2023, Eurasia Review reported, adding that the highest number of such cases, 28 in total, were reported in Punjab while Sindh followed with 16 cases. Khyber Pakhtunkhwa with 8 and Pakistan -occupied Kashmir (PoK) with 5. Two Christian teenagers, identified as Adil Baber and Simon Masih, were recently accused of blasphemy in Lahore, Pakistan. The allegations against them were levelled by the police constable Zahid Sohail, soon after he had indulged in an altercation with the young accusers on May 28.

According to the registered First Information Report (FIR) No 902/23. Sohail alleged that the boys uttered blasphemous remarks against the Holy Name of the Prophet Muhammad while he was walking to a mosque to

Adil Baber is 18 years old while Simon Masih is

The accused's families denied the allegations, claiming it was the result of a personal dispute hetween the two boys and Sohail, as they had a previous altercation. Moreover, the families argued that during the initial confrontation, witnesses present at the scene demanded evidence to substantiate the claims but none was reportedly provided at the time of the arrest. The family, while demanding a free trial, urged the authorities to address their concerns about the fairness and objectivity of the investigation process, with questions surrounding the potential bias given that the accuser is also a police officer. Human Rights activist Joseph Jansen and chairperson of Voice for Justice, condemned the incident, adding that the increase in the misuse of the blasphemy laws and its use as a retaliation act to settle personal disputes must be stopped, as numerous people languish in prisons for years until the courts finally realize the miscarriage of justice and set them free, Eurasia Review reported. Further, according to the report, a fair trial is the right of every citizen guaranteed in the constitution of Pakistan and the protection of accusers until proven guilty is the responsibility of the Jansen further asked for a proactive response from the authorities to safeguard the young boys and their families during and after the legal proceedings, as such fabricated accusations often lead to the climate of mob violence and vigilante iustice targeting religious minorities. Germany's top newspaper slashing 20% of jobs, replacing workers with AI

IANS

LONDON: German media giant Axel Springer is laying off 20 percent of newsroom jobs and apparently replacing some employees with artificial intelligence (AI) technology, reports surfaced on Thursday.

Axel Springer CEO Mathias Dopfner, a friend of Tesla CEO Elon Musk, has ushered in a "digitalonly" phase, reports CNN

The roles of editors photo editors, proofreaders and other employees involved in print production will "no longer exist as they do today," the publisher wrote in its memo.

Australia threatens to fine Musk's Twitter over rising online hate

SYDNEY: Australia's cyber regulator on Thursday issued a legal notice to Elon Musk-run Twitter, seeking information about what the social media giant is doing to tackle online hate on the platform.

If Twitter fails to respond to the notice within 28 days, the company could face maximum financial penalties of nearly $700,000 a day for continuing breaches.

Australian eSafety Commissioner Julie Inman Grant said that Twitter's terms of use and policies currently prohibit hateful conduct on the platform, but rising complaints to eSafety and reports of this content remaining publicly visible on the platform, show that Twitter is not likely to be enforcing its own rules. "We are seeing a worrying surge in hate online 'eSafety research shows that nearly 1 in 5 Australians have experienced some form of online hate,"

she said in a statement. "This level of online abuse is already inexcusably high, but if you're a First Nations Australian, you are disabled or identify as LGBTIQ+ you experience online hate at double the rate of the rest of the population," Grant added. According to eSafety Commissioner, they received more complaints about online hate on Twitter in the past 12 months than any other platform and has received an increasing number of reports of serious online abuse since Musk's takeover of the company in October, 2022.

The rise in complaints

also coincides with a slashing of Twitter's global workforce from 8,000 employees to 1,500, including in its trust and safety teams, coupled with ending its public policy presence in Australia.

"Twitter appears to have dropped the ball on tackling hate. A third of all complaints about online hate reported to us are now happening on Twitter.

'We are also aware of reports that the reinstatement of some of these previously banned accounts has emboldened extreme polarisers, peddlers of outrage and hate, including neo-Nazis both in Australia and overseas," she noted.

Last month, US advocacy group GLAAD designated Twitter as the most hateful platform towards the LGBTQ+ community as part of their third annual social media index.

Research by the UKbased Center for Countering Digital Hate (CCDH) demonstrated that slurs against African Americans showed up on Twitter an average of 1,282 times a day before Musk took over the platform. Afterwards, they more than doubled to an average of 3,876 times a day.

The CCDH also found that those paying for a Twitter Blue Check seemed to enjoy a level of impunity when it came to the enforcement of Twitter's rules governing online hate. "We need accountability from these platforms and action to protect their users and you cannot have accountability without transparency and that's what legal notices like this one are designed to achieve," Grant said.

Mighty Japan on India's sights in do-or-die battle

BANGKOK: It's down to the last game in Group D of the AFC U-17 Asian Cup for India, and it's the biggest one of them all so far.

Japan awaits the Blue Colts in a match that will be played at the Rajamangala Stadium in Bangkok, Thailand, one that will decide the fate for the boys from the subcontinent.

India head coach Bibiano Fernandes knows of the mammoth task that lies in front of his side, but feels that it is one that his boys can scale, if they stick to

"It's quite simple for us. We need to win against Japan, and that should be enough to take us through to the quarter-finals. However, that is easier said than done. Japan are one of the best teams in this competition, they are the defending champions," said Fernandes. "It won't at all be easy, but it's not impossible.' "Funny things have happened in football, and you never know. We will go into the game as the underdogs, no doubt, but if a couple of chances go our way, and we play to the plans, we can get what we were looking for," he said. Group D is still an open affair on the final matchday, as all four teams stand a chance to make it to the last eight. For India. it is a rather difficult equation, where they have to defeat Japan and hope for Uzbekistan to get at least a draw against Vietnam.

"It's difficult, but the boys are really motivated to do well against Japan. It's an opportunity to play against one of the best teams in Asia, and I am happy to say that that is not lost on them," said Fernandes. "We have to believe with all our heart. and hopefully providence will favour us once the match comes to an end." The Blue Colts have not been able to fire as hard as they would have wished to in their first two games, drawing 1-1 against Vietnam, and losing 0-1 to Uzbekistan. Fernandes has been working

Super Sunil's hat-trick sinks Pakistan in SAFF Championship

BENGALURU: The Indian senior men's team kicked off their SAFF Championship title defence with a 4-0 victory over Pakistan in Group A at the Sree Kanteerava Stadium here on Wednesday night

Sunil Chhetri netted an early brace before adding another after the break for his fourth international hat-trick, thereby taking his tally to 90 goals.

Substitute Udanta Singh then finished the job with the fourth goal late to sum up a memorable night for the Blue Tigers on their return to Bengaluru after almost six years

Kuwait beat Nepal 3-1 in the tournament opener earlier in the day. India are top of the Group A standings on goal difference after matchday 1.

This was one of the biggest victories for India against Pakistan. In the 1999 SAF Games India defeated their rivals from across the border 5-2 with IM Vijayan scoring a hattrick. Chhetri is the third Indian to find a hat-trick against Pakistan after Puran Bahadur and IM Viiavan.

Chhetri said after the match, "We are very happy to start the tournament on a winning note. A game in these rainy conditions is not easy, so I'm really happy, majorly because we kept a clean sheet, and also because so many fans turned up to support us

Less than 72 hours after a high-octane final victory in the Hero Intercontinental Cup in Bhubaneswar, India were off to a lightning-quick start in Bengaluru. Pakistan goalkeeper Saqib Hanif had looked shaky right from the beginning and Chhetri took full advantage in the 10th minute. The skipper pressed high and capitalised on a mis-control from the custodian to slot the ball into an empty net.

Just five minutes later, Abdul Samad showed quick feet to skip past a couple of challenges before feeding Anirudh Thapa, who's shot hit a Pakistan defender's hand. The resulting India penalty was dispatched with ease by Chhetri.

Even with a two-goal lead, India maintained their high pressure and saw Chhangte's left-footed shot on the turn saved before Sahal hit the side netting. Standing over a free-kick right outside the box, Chhetri sent it over the wall but just wide of the near post.

At the stroke of halftime, India head coach Igor Stimac was sent off for interrupting a quick throw-in from Pakistan. Assistant coach Mahesh Gawali deputised for him on the touchline after the
